BLS International builds an AI-first, partner-powered ecosystem to make visa and consular services faster and more secure

- BLS International's latest partnership with Signzy makes every application more secure and more seamless across 100+ countries

- Drawing on in-house innovation and industry-leading partners, BLS International develops a stronger technology stack for safer, faster services

New Delhi, 08 October 2026 - BLS International, a trusted global AI and tech-enabled services partner to governments and citizens, today announced a further strengthening of its technology stack, combining in-house innovation with industry-leading partners to make visa and consular services safer and faster for applicants. The company has partnered with Signzy to strengthen fraud control and streamline verification workflows across its operations, building on BLS International's established document verification expertise. Together with its in-house capabilities and technology collaborators, the enhanced stack is designed to protect applicant data and give client governments greater confidence in every application, while visa decisions remain firmly with governments.

Under the latest partnership, BLS International will integrate Signzy's document intelligence and deepfake detection capabilities into its document processing ecosystem. The integration will strengthen the identification of document anomalies, tampering, and AI-generated forgeries, streamline verification workflows, and improve processing accuracy, consistency and turnaround times.

BLS International continues to invest in a layered technology stack. It combines in-house innovation capabilities, with technology partners such as AWS, Sypha AI among others to deliver secure, scalable and intelligent services for governments and applicants worldwide. The company's approach is that technology flags, people verify and governments decide.

Commenting on the partnership, Shikhar Aggarwal, Joint Managing Director at BLS International, said, “Technology is central to how BLS International scales and differentiates. By pairing our in-house innovation with industry leading partnerships, we are building an agile, modular and a future-ready technology stack. Together, these investments strengthen the foundation on which we will build our next phase of growth and continue to lead the industry forward.”

Highlighting the partnership, Arpit Ratan, Co-Founder and Business Head, Signzy, said, "BLS International is a renowned global leader in visa and consular services, and we are proud to partner with them to bring advanced AI and technology solutions to applicants worldwide. Signzy's platform goes beyond document checks, combining AI-led verification, underwriting and fraud/AML intelligence into a single, connected trust layer, and this collaboration lets us extend that intelligence to one of the world's largest citizen and visa services networks."

Backed by robust IT infrastructure and a strong focus on data security and privacy, BLS International follows applicable data protection requirements, including the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), to help safeguard applicant information and strengthen trust across its digital and service touchpoints. Also, It has been appraised at CMMI® Maturity Level 5 DEV, SVC & Security (V3.0) and holds certifications including ISO 9001:2015, ISO 27001:2013 and ISO 14001:2015.
